1. Although the name of this national enterprise has not yet been formally established, it will probably remain Krizik-Prosov. Located at Prosov (249/E37), it is a branch of the Prague firm, Krizik, producing electrometers. As was the case with most of the plants which engaged in the 1948 reorganization of the former national enterprises, this independent enterprise is unable to establish a satisfactory management. A lack of top officials and a shortage of buildings resulting from the plant's remote location present serious problems in the formation of the management.
2. The Krizik-Prosov plant is a new, modern building of about 15,000 sq. meters. The equipment consists of lathes, small grinding machines, cutting machines for gears, drill presses, small eccentric presses, welding machines, presses for plastic materials inlaid with electric wires, and similar equipment for the production of fine electrical apparatus.
3. At the present time the production program involves only electrometers, but the plant is of such a size that the program will probably be augmented by the production of voltmeters, ammeters, automatic switches and other electrical equipment. Although the plant has at present no real military significance, there will probably be an expansion of the production program along lines consistent with military requirements because of the ample size of the plant and its good location.
